PhD. Chemical Engineering supervised by Prof. Nick J. Miles.

Thesis: Designing and Assessing a Novel Vertically Vibrated Particle Separator. This course has provided me a comprehensive understanding of processing fine particulate materials such as multicomponent solid waste mixtures (e.g. WEEE and Compost) and critical scale up issues associated with these separation systems.

- Developed research methodology, report writing, presentation and communication skills.
- Developed and validated a Discreet Element (DEM) and fluid Model for the vibration induced separation of micron sized particles.
- Designed and developed a test rig for the micron sized particle separation in the presence of air only.
- Reviewed solid waste mechanical separation technologies.
- Involved in liaising with industry for commercialisation.
- Overviewed solid waste environmental laws, standards and WEEE directives.
- Demonstrated my work to the internal and external audience.

September 2004-05 – Loughborough University, UK.

M.Sc. Advanced Process Engineering with Distinction.
